

Mother

It seems that we have come to that inevitable juncture of our lives that none can avoid.

*You have passed on to join our Dad,
your loving husband of 40 years.*

Few people in this life can look back across this short expanse of human existence we call our lives with little or no regret but we believe that you were among those who truly could.

*Your zest for life was real and you lived it daily.
Through your unwavering faith, you were able to view life in a manner that allowed for forgiveness
for those who wronged you and undying devotion to your family and friends.*

*The inherent basic philosophies you lived by:
integrity, honesty, hard work, tenacity, fortitude,
and faith; were overshadowed
only by your unmaterialistic, yet dignified and realistic approach to life.*

*Mom, you have your family and friends'
deepest admiration for the attributes you have displayed through the course of your life and our thanks for your contributions of music, your ability to indulge us in in-depth conversation, your guidance and unselfish assistance through life's difficult times.*

*Mom, you've led a long and colorful life, one many can only wish for. You are now where you've longed to be since dad's passing:
with the one true love of your life, our dad.*

*Mom, thank you for being who you were,
Our Mother.*

*In Loving Memory of Ruth Miller
October 22, 1932 -
November 4, 2024*

Ruth Naoma (Danielson) Miller, 92, of Sidney, Montana passed away from natural causes on Monday, November 4, 2024, at the Sidney Health Center in Sidney, Montana.

Ruth was born at the Berry Maternity home on October 22, 1932, in Fairview, Montana to parents Axel Valdemar and Hilda Catherine (Beisner) Danielson. She was baptized November 6, 1932, and Confirmed April 14, 1946, into the Lutheran faith at St. John Lutheran Church at Fairview.

Ruth attended grade school at the Dean and Central Schools and graduated from Fairview High School on May 24, 1950. On June 4, 1950, she was united in marriage to Alfred John Miller at St. John Lutheran Church. They began farming northeast of Dore, N.D. on the Miller farm, and on December 13, 1952, they moved to their farm south of Fairview, and Ruth has lived there since. On January 18, 1955, their home was blessed with twins by adoption. Steven Micheal and Linda Susan.

Ruth's life was spent as a busy farm wife. Her husband Alfred, and her children, and later grandchildren kept her occupied as did her love of gardening. People locally and from a distance enjoyed the produce she and her family grew in their truck garden. She worked at the Fairview Bakery in the early 1950s; and at the Migrant School in Fairview in the 1970s. Always a willing farm hand, she worked side by side with her husband, Alfred, driving tractor, irrigating, raising feeder cattle and driving truck during beet harvest and later for her brother Dale and his sons.

Alfred and Ruth joined the Good Sam Club in 1977, enjoying many weekend campouts with friends in North Dakota, Montana, and Canada. In 1978 they began spending winter months in Yuma, Arizona. Alfred passed away in 1992 while they were in Arizona, a great loss she never completely got over. She continued to spend her winter months in Yuma with friends, and summer months in Fairview with family. She felt that she had the best of two worlds.

Ruth was a lifelong member of St. John Lutheran Church where she belonged to the L.W.M.L. which kept her busy during the summer months. She was a winter member of Christ Lutheran Church in Yuma where she joined a group of church women there. They spent two days a week quilting beautiful quilts for people living in poverty-stricken countries.

She continued her hobbies, which were writing and receiving letters with friends and family, especially with her cousins in Sweden. She read constantly, crocheted, Tole painted, and raised African violets, which were all beautiful objects of art and life. But her favorite was spending time with friends or family, especially her grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Ruth is survived by her daughter Linda (Doug); her three grandchildren Marnie, Nicole and Laina; and last but not least her three great grandchildren: Makenzie, Jordan and Nyx. She is also survived by her brother Dale and his wife Diane; and by numerous in-laws, nieces and nephews whom she loved very much. Ruth knew every one of their birthdays since she also compiled family histories for both the Millers and the Danielsons.
